

Society of Mary

Marists in the United States

February 12, 2021

CELEBRATE CATHOLIC SCHOOLS WEEK 2021
January 31 - February 6
#CSW21

The Society of Mary has a century and a half long commitment to Catholic education in the United States. Marists express their founding call to help educate the youth of America. They do it wherever they are and with the most important tool they have – compassion.

“Good Lord, what a great work education is. There is nothing so arduous, nothing which requires so much tact. ... But nothing is more meritorious, and nothing greater. I considered whether we would take a special vow in the Society to devote ourselves to education. It is the greatest work.”

(Fr. Jean-Claude Colin, Society of Mary Founder (FS 13:10))

Marist School
Atlanta, Georgia

In observance of Catholic Schools Week, Marist School Principal Mr. Kevin Mullally shared the following with parents: “Our Catholic schools are one of the means the Church employs to educate youth in the faith and to share the Good News of Jesus Christ. In this way, Catholic schools, and Marist School in particular, are primarily concerned with evangelization. We see this as our most important work and, as such, see our Theology and Campus Ministry Departments, as well as the classes, liturgy, programs, and retreats they offer, as central to the existence of our school and the overall student experience.

What your children learn in those areas constitutes the most practical and important part of the education they receive at Marist because their faith is something that they will practice every day for all of their days. And, ultimately, that’s the end our mission calls us to: to graduate disciples who are in relationship with Christ, more perfectly formed in His image, and who participate fully in His Church while calling others to do the same.”
